Merriam-Webster defines a trend as a current style or preference. “I’ve found that my client base (in keeping with the nature of New England) strives for timelessness,” says Amanda Raymond of Studio Sage Interiors.

“I like the 90/10 recipe for interiors,” adds Amanda. “The idea is to use white or neutrals as the platform for walls and large, fixed pieces and then to accessorize with color. You can achieve a calming aesthetic with cool colors or a dramatic look with bold, warm tones. Add texture with fabrics, metals, woods, and glass.”

Interior design is all about layers. Just as a statement necklace can elevate your little black dress, lighting is like jewelry for your home.
